The groom, but is a prominent young business man of Madisonville. His bride is a daughter of Hon. Polk Laffoon, of Madisonville, and is accounted one of the prettiest of Kentucky's fair women.

VARIEGATED LIST.

Ring's Selections Made Public For Carriers.

All of the Colored Applicants Cared For Except One Who Sometimes Scratches.

The Court House Gang finally got it fixed up to suit themselves and the result of the recent juggling of the eligible list of carriers was made public Saturday. The first Postmaster Breathitt saw of the list was the notification of appointments.

The following are to be the carriers, all Republicans: Alex. C. Overhiner, Jr., white, clerk in postoffice, transferred to carrier service without examination.

Thos. F. Callard, white, son-in-law of W. C. Wright, a local politician.

Arthur Whitlock, a colored school teacher.

James Whitney, a colored lawyer. These are the four regular carriers. A substitute is also allowed and this place goes to Peter Boyd, a well-known colored politician and teacher.

There were four other applicants who passed the examinations. These were L. W. Guthrie, Republican, who stood at the top of the list; Frank Marion, who stood second; Eph Poston, col., who stood third, and Will Croft, Republican, who came fifth in the list of nine. This relative standing is not from the official record, for only the candidates on the Ring ticket have had access to the report. It is made up from the hearsay statements of the applicants themselves. Will Williamson, a clerk in the postoffice, was also eligible without examination, making with Alex. Overhiner 11 eligibles. Those turned down who earned places were Guthrie, who was held to be a non-resident of this city; Marion, because he was a Democrat; Croft, because his father is the anti-ring candidate for Sheriff and Williamson, who was denied the privilege of a transfer, which the law gives him. All of the colored eligibles were taken care of except Eph Poston, who has sometimes voted independently in county politics, when he could not stomach the Gang candidates.

The vacant clerkship in the postoffice will be filled by the promotion of Miss Eva Royalty, stamp clerk, and the force will be reduced one inside the office. It will be observed that four instead of three carries were named. Maj. Breathitt is not yet advised, but this is taken to mean that the routes will be rearranged and the entire city covered. The service will be inaugurated Thursday of next week. Citizens who do not like the color of their carriers, have the privilege of retaining their postoffice boxes at from $3 to $4 a year.

JUST AS EASY

As Fall Off A Log, Was Esq. Bill Long Set Aside.

As foretold by the KENTUCKIAN, the Republican Ring Committee set aside W. R. Long Saturday, without even the formality of a convention and by a vote of 5 to 4 declared W. T. Williamson the nominee for magistrate in the North Hopkinsville district.

A. C. Banks, col., was also a candidate but his aspirations were entirely ignored and he failed to get a vote.

The Committee at the same sitting nominated Gabe L. Campbell for magistrate in the South Hopkinsville district.

J. W. Armstrong was put on the county ticket for surveyor, vice Wm. Robinson deceased.

Teacher Secured.

Mr. J. Walter Knight, of Church Hill, has secured the school at Church Hill, and will begin the fall session the last of August.

LIBELS SCHLEY

In An Alleged History of The U. S. Navy.

Book Approved by Secretary Long, But Barred as a Text Book Since the Exposure.

Washington, July 19.—Rear Admiral Schley, it was learned at the Navy Department to-day, is intemperately criticised in a text book in use at the naval academy at Annapolis. Upon learning the facts Secretary Long immediately wired Commander Richard Wainwright, superintendent of the academy, to exclude the offensive book from the curriculum.

"Macley's History of the American Navy" is the title of the book, which is the third volume of the series. The author is Edgar Stanton Macley, now an employee of the Brooklyn navy yard. Cowardice and lying are laid at the door of Admiral Schley, who is also called insubordinate, incompetent and a caltiff.

General Felix Agnus, publisher of the Baltimore American, and an ardent supporter of Admiral Schley in the Sampson-Schley controversy, is the man who discovered the use of these epithets, and who at once called them to official attention.

MACLEY'S WEAK DEFENSE.

New York, July 19.—Edgar S. Macley to-day said: "I did not appreciate at the time I wrote the book that the terms were immoderate and intemperate. It was only recently it met with adverse criticism. It is now my intention to revise that portion of the work that deals with the battle of Santiago. But I shall not alter the facts, for they are correct. I never had any animus against Schley."

TRIPLE HANGING.

Three Negro Murderers Sent to Kingdom Come.

Nashville, Tenn., July 18.—The first triple execution ever witnessed in this county took place this morning, when three negroes were suspended from the same scaffold. The hanging took place in the jail yard, and was witnessed by about 200 people.

The condemned were Babe Battise, Duser Thompson and Abe Petway, and they calmly mounted the steps and took their places on the trap without exhibiting the least evidence of trepidation.

COMMONWEALTH'S WITNESS

Absent and Case Was Indefinitely Postponed.

The examining trial of Pete Johnson, col., who killed Lizzie Weaver, col., near Herndon, July 1, was called before Judge Canaler Saturday and continued. The most important witness for the Commonwealth, who lives in Tennessee, was absent, and is not now known when the case will again come up.

Mr. Morris was well known in this city and was a most excellent citizen. He had two business houses in Dawson and leaves an estate worth probably $50,000.

The remains were interred at Pipey Grove, Caldwell County, Thursday.

SPECIAL JUDGE

J. I. Landes Holding Court in Elktion.

Judge J. I. Landes has been selected as special judge to try several important cases on the equity docket at Elktion, notably the mandamus proceeding against the Todd County Clerk, seeking to require him to issue license to sell liquors in Trenton. Trenton has long been a dry town and a test case has been brought to test the legality of the present law.

Another important case will be the case of Wm. G. Bramham vs. the L. & N. Railroad Company.

The I. C. passenger train Sunday night was three hours late and the crowd from Cerulean did not return home until nearly one o'clock Monday morning.

A Miniature Railway.

One of the greatest novelties of the age is the Miniature Railway the smallest steam railroad in the world. The gauge is 15 inches; the height, 36 inches; the locomotive, 36 inches; the passenger coach accommodates two persons, either adult or children, and is six feet long and 24 inches wide. A man standing beside the engine is from two to three feet above its top, and yet this midge runs 12 miles an hour. It works just like the big railroad trains, and will be one of the features at the Lexington Horse Show, Fair and Carnival, August 12-17. Every child in the State should see and ride it.

EFFECTIVE

Was Senator Vest's Tribute to the Dog.

One of the most eloquent tributes ever paid to the dog was delivered by Senator Vest, of Missouri, some years ago. He was attending court in a country town, and while waiting for the trial of a case in which he was interested, was urged by the attorneys in a dog case to help them. Voluminous evidence was introduced to show that the defendant had shot the dog in malice, while other evidence went to show that the dog had attacked defendant. Vest took no part in the trial and was not disposed to speak. The attorneys, however, urged him to speak. Being thus urged he arose, scanned the face of each jurymen for a moment, and said:

"Gentlemen of the Jury: The best friend a man has in the world may turn against him and become his enemy. His son or daughter that he has reared with loving care may prove ungrateful. Those who are nearest and dearest to us, those whom we trust with our happiness and our good name, may become traitors to their faith. The money that a man has may lose itself away from him, perhaps when he needs it most. A man's reputation may be sacrificed in a moment of ill-considered action. The people who are prone to fall on their knees to do us honor when success is with us may be the first to throw the stone of malice when failure settles its clouds upon our heads. The one absolutely unselfish friend that a man can have in this selfish world, the one that never deserts him, the one that never proves ungrateful or treacherous, is his dog. A man's dog stands by him in prosperity and poverty, in health and in sickness. He will sleep on the cold ground, where the wintry winds blow and the snow drives fiercely, if only he may be near his master's side. He will kiss the hand that has no food to offer; he will lick the wounds and sores that come in encounter with the roughness of the world. He guards the sleep of his pauper master as if he were a prince. When all other friends desert he remains. When riches take wings and reputation falls to pieces he is as constant in his love as the sun in its journey through the heavens. If fortune drives the master forth an outcast in the world, friendless and homeless, the faithful dog asks no higher privilege than that of accompanying him, to guard against danger, to fight against his enemies. And when the last scene of all comes, and death takes the master in its embrace, and his body is laid away in the cold ground, no matter if all other friends pursue their way, there by the graveside will the noble dog be found, his head between his paws, his eyes sad, but open in alert watchfulness, faithful and true even in death."

Then Vest sat down. He had spoken in a few words, without a gesture. He made no reference to the evidence or the merits of the case. When he finished judge and jury were wiping their eyes. The jury filed out but soon entered with a verdict of $500 for the plaintiff, whose dog was shot; and it was said that some of the jurors wanted to hang the defendant.—Nashville American.

Small Vote Polled But That Had

No Effect On the Results—
Read Run Over.

Louisville, Ky., July 18.—The Republican primary for the nomination of city and county officers was the most outrageous ever held by any party in this city. From the moment the polls opened at 3 o'clock to the close at 8 o'clock charges of fraud were made. Money was openly used to corrupt voters. The election officers opened the ballots of men who offered their votes to see if they were marked the way the machine desired. After the polls were closed the election officers took charge of the count, and it is charged, fixed up the returns to suit themselves.

The principal interest was in the race for Mayor between Jas. F. Grinstead and P. B. Reed, and the friends of the latter openly declare that Mr. Reed was swindled out of the nomination.

The primary is likely to disrupt the Republican party in Louisville, as men like George D. Todd and all of Mr. Reed's friends will not support the ticket.

Only 5000 votes were polled, against 12000 in the Democratic primary. Even the Louisville Post calls it "a farcical, machine-made ticket."

Thomas Stokes Taught School Near Huntsville, Ark., and Was Quite Popular.

Van Buren, Ark., July 17.—Today T. A. Irvin, of Baird, Tex., was in the city, having in custody Thomas Stokes, whom he had arrested in Huntsville, this State, charged with the murder of a prominent citizen of Baird three years ago. Stokes, who is but 24 years old and beardless, has been for the past three years masquerading in female attire, and being a young man of education secured a teacher's license and representing himself to be a woman has been teaching school near Huntsville. Stokes is very reticent about the affair and claims he is not the man wanted. He says that the donning of female attire was from choice, as he better succeeded in getting employment as a female teacher. He had become quite popular among the people of Huntsville who are loth to believe that he is not the woman he had represented himself to be. He was taken to Texas today. Detective Irvin is quite positive that he has the right man.

First Born Children the Strongest.

It would seem the first born children excel later born children in height and weight. This may be due to the greater vigor of the mother at the birth of the first child. We are reminded of a fact, mentioned later, that out of fifty great men of this country, 30 per cent were the youngest sons. In England it was found that growth degenerates as we go lower in the social scale, there being a difference of even five inches in height between the best and worst fed classes in the community. An investigation of 10,000 children in Switzerland showed that children born in summer are taller for their age than those born in winter; as a majority of children in the public schools are forced to economize more on account of expense of heating, their rooms are also liable to be small and poorly ventilated, while in summer they are out in the fresh air; food is also cheaper and more varied. The influence of unhealthy conditions on a very young child would be much greater than when it is older and better able to resist them.—Ex.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the first few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Judge Cantrill has rendered a decision refusing to grant the railroads of the state the injunction they asked, to prevent the state board of valuation and assessment from certifying to the various counties the franchise value per mile of each railroad or county taxation. The railroad attorneys will appeal the case, but meantime the board will certify the franchise value to each county. If the decision is upheld it means that the railroads will have to pay over $500,000 in all to the various counties which they do not pay now.

The remarkable statement appears in the Eddyville Tale of Two Cities that the turnpikes of Christian county were built by State aid and that Christian county now opposes similar aid to other counties "too poor to build their roads." The turnpikes in question were built by local corporations and purchased by a vote of the county, less than thirty days ago. Christian county has received no aid from the State in building roads, but it is mistaken in the penitentiary pike in Eddyville was built by the State.

Judging by what is actually accomplished and assuming that the great man is he who does what his fellows fail to do, the greatest living American is Thomas A. Edison. According to United States Commissioner of Patents Duell, Edison leads the list of American inventors, having procured 732 patents, the most of which are for electrical devices. The man with the next best record is Francis H. Richards, who has procured 619 patents, mostly for weighing machines.

Two boys were killed by lightning at a wheat threshing in Hart county. There have been an unusually large number of victims of lightning in Kentucky this summer and the lightning-rod peddler who has kept a record will have a list of horrible examples that ought to cause a big boom in this popular method of "faking."

Cure for Cholera Infantum—Never Known to Fail.

During last May an infant child of our neighbor was suffering from cholera infantum. The doctor had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house, telling them I believed that it would do good if used according to directions. In two days, time the child had fully recovered. The child is now vigorous and healthy. I have recommended this remedy frequently and have never known it to fail.—Mrs. CURTIS BAKER, Bookwalter, Ohio. WARM NUMBER.

Sunday Was Hot Enough For All Except Those Hard To Please.

Weather Bureau Holds Out No Prospects of Relief For Some Time to Come.

Hopkinsville is still in the track of the hot wave, that has prevailed pretty much all over the country for a month or more. In many cities the temperature was above 100 degrees. In Hopkinsville the mercury registered 105 degrees by the government thermometer, within two degrees of the season's record of 107 degrees on July 11. Some private thermometers in the city though went as high as 108.

The maximum temperature line of 100 degrees included the States and Territories of Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Iowa, Missouri, Ohio, Indiana and Illinois. At Chicago at 7 o'clock p. m., the temperature was 100 degrees, exceeding by several degrees anything ever before reported at that time of the day.

A serious feature is the showing made in the States of Iowa, Missouri and Kansas, where the temperatures have been 90 degrees or over for a period of over a month. For eighteen days of this time the thermometer at Kansas City registered 100 degrees or more.

No Prospects of Relief.

Weather Bureau officials do not care to make any prediction as to the prospects of relief. They say that none as yet is in sight. The seriousness of the situation to the crops is increased by the lack of rain, none of importance having fallen in the corn belt for three days and there apparently being no prospects. The rain which gave a partial relief to the States of the corn belt during the past week were not by any means general in character, but a succession of thunderstorms, affording temporary relief to the over parched grand and grain.

According to the official reports, Paducah was the hottest place in Kentucky, with a record of 108.

Mary Ray, col., died at Bowling Green, from heat prostration.

A Case of Prostration.
Mr. Leonard E. Fowler, the well known young druggist and member of the drug firm of Anderson & Fowler, was overcome with excessive heat while in his store in the Hotel Latham, Sunday morning, and lapsed. He remained unconscious some time, and felt the effects of his prostration all day, but rallied in the evening.

Yesterday Another Scorching.
Yesterday was even worse than Sunday, though there was more breeze stirring. The thermometers about town stood from 104 to 109.

Heartburn.
When the quantity of food taken is too large or the quality torrid, heart burn is likely to follow, and especially so if the digestion has been weakened by constipation. Eat slowly and not too freely of easily digested food. Masticate the food thoroughly. Let six hours elapse between meals and when you feel a fullness and weight in the region of the stomach after eating, indication that you have eaten too much, take some of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets and the heartburn may be avoided. For sale by all druggists.

Wiping Out the Five Tribes.

The end of the redskin, no far as he is officially concerned with the United States government, is in sight. Within two years the Indians of the Five Civilized Tribes in the Indian Territory will be stripped of their identity as a people and of what will either have to become citizens of the United States or leave it.

□ We have been so busy thinking about the Filipino, the Porto Rican and the Cuban that we have lost sight of what has been termed "the greatest human tragedy of the end of the century." Years ago, when no one ever dreamed that the West was to be populated and become the richest portion of our domain, a treaty was made with the Cherokee, Creek, Choctaw, Chickasaw and Seminole by which twenty million acres of land known as Indian Territory were set apart for their reservation, to be theirs so long as an Indian lived. To save the Indians and their invested funds the government has determined to break this treaty, to abolish their tribal government and councils and divide their lands into small tracts.

That the reconstruction of the Indian Territory is absolutely necessary to save the Indian lands from the rapacity of the whites and half-breeds is the belief of W. R. Draper, who writes of this "greatest of human tragedies" in the current number of The Outlook. A few years ago Congress found by extended investigation that the territory was the harboring place of outlaws, that white men who had married Indian women held thousands of acres of the finest land while the full-blooded Indian was living back in the woods and barely getting enough to sustain life. The whites and treacherous half-breeds were gradually grabbing all the territory. Congress therefore decided that it would be better to break faith with them and save them the remnants of their invested funds.

The work of wiping out the affairs of the Five Tribes is now being carried out by a commission appointed under the Curtis act, which was passed by congress in June, 1898. Town sites are being laid out, and the Indians are being enrolled for their allotments of land. When these 80,000 Indians receive their deeds in fee simple for their allotments of land there will be opened for settlement what Mr. Draper calls a "veritable paradise for white people." So anxious are the Indians to get rid of the land that many of them sell their allotments of selection, which become bills of sale to the land.

As soon as the work of this commission is completed and the Indians have received their allotments the land will gradually pass into the possession of the all-conquering Anglo-Saxon race and the Five Tribes will pass out of existence forever.

The July "American Boy."

The American Boy for July (Sprague Publishing Co. Detroit, Mich.) is an instructive and inspiring publication. It would be hard to conceive of a better Fourth of July paper for boys. The articles appropriate to the month are: "The Cradle of Liberty," "Hal's Fourth of July," "The Little Independence Day," and "Isaiah Thomas, the Boy Who Helped Start the Revolution," all well illustrated.

Other stories and leading articles are: "The Hilly Regatta," "A Zebra Hunt," in which the late Gov. Pingree participated, the story being told by a member of the party; a story about Cornelius Vanderbilt; chapter XXII, of the continued series "Three Boys in the Round," the fourth article in the series, "The Boy's Life," and "The Boy Who Helped Start the Revolution," all well illustrated.

The department matter contains one of Aunt Elm's Tales to Little Boys, How in Making and Saving Letters of Credit, Washington Jones, The American Boy March and Last Step, a beautiful sketch of Miss Winifred, a collection of boy stories, July in American History, important stories for Boys Who Want to See a Portent in the City, John's Trip to the North Pole, News About the Order of the American Boy, and the sports and contests of the order. MISFORTUNES OF WEALTH.

Housekeeper and Landlord Stripped the Rich Man's Home.

"Wealth has misfortunes of its own," remarked a gentleman recently who lives north of Canal street, to a New Orleans Times-Democrat reporter, "and I had occasion several days ago to see the really funny side of a thing that happened to a lucky man. Up to a few months ago he was a very poor fellow, a sort of Lazarus in the flesh, for the rich man might shake his fist at him without running the risk of offering a serious affront. But the oil boom which hit Beaumont brought good luck to this poor man, and he suddenly began to rise in the world in a financial way. The first streak of good luck that hit him caused him to give up his job, and he began to improve things about his home. He hired a housekeeper, bought a new lot of nice and expensive things, and was simply rioting in a small way on account of his good luck at Beaumont. He bought silverware and things of that sort. He finally pulled out for Beaumont, where he could watch his interests and add to a fortune which had already reached the million-dollar mark. He remained away for some time, and reports of his continued good luck reached his housekeeper and his landlord, and they never dreamed that he would return to New Orleans. He was simply too rich to think about the little things in the little home—the little furnishings, the little silverware, the little what-nots and other little things. Thus thinking, they concluded that they would confer, one with the other, the one being the landlord and the other being the housekeeper. So they did. They conferred, and then decided to divide the deserted estate, taking share and share alike, upon poor man, as one might say. There was no hitch in the division, and the landlord and the housekeeper separated on friendly terms and in the best of spirits. Really, they felt like Beaumont's boom had hit them in a small way. But the fellow returned, like a fellow will sometimes, just at the most unexpected time. And he made a straight shot for the little home which he had furnished in the first flush of his good luck. He found them on the steps. The windows were curtained. There was no sound, no nothing to indicate the house was built for human habitation, and the poor rich man was paralyzed when he saw hanging from the gallery post the sign, 'For Rent.'"

A RACE FOR LIFE.

Tracks in the Snow Tell of a Narrowly Averted Tragedy.

At one time I was passing along the edge of the woods in winter when there was snow, says a writer in Forest and Stream. I saw the track of a lynx where it had been leisurely traveling along, when the tracks showed where it had stopped behind a pine bush and snarled down in the snow. It made tremendous leaps into the air, and ran a few rods, evidently at its best pace.

There was the track of a jack rabbit coming down straight angles with the course the lynx was going, until it was opposite the lynx's track, where it was facing the lynx and about 15 feet away. Then a sudden turn, and their tracks were fused together in the race for life of a meal; but soon the tracks showed where the jack had left his pursuer behind, and the lynx went on his way at his regular pace, but, we will suppose, rejoicing, thus showing the "survival of the fittest."

Had the jack failed to get out of reach and the lynx had made the proposed connections, there would have been a bloody, trampled spot on the snow, a few patches of white fur, and only the lynx track leading north. Written on the snow like the great white pages of a book that tell the story may read most interestingly as the poet says, and "learn the life and hidden history of our creatures."

Irregularity or derangement at this time may be promptly met and cured by the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. But neglected at this critical period may entail years of future suffering. "Favorite Prescription" acts directly upon the womanly organs giving them perfect vigor and abundant vitality. It removes the obstructions to health and happiness, and delivers womanhood from the cruel bondage of "female weakness."

Esq. Parker's Position.

Know all men by these presents: That at a meeting of the Fiscal court, held at the Court House, in Hopkinsville, Christian County, Ky., on the 27th day of May, 1901, the question of "an appropriation of $1250 to be made by the said court to the Good Roads Convention to be held in Hopkinsville on July 10 and 11, 1901," said question was brought up by a motion by some member of said court and was put by Judge Polk Cansler, as chairman of said court, and a vote was taken on said question.

This Is To Certify, that W. L. Parker, magistrate from the third district of said county, voted against and by such influence as he could bring to bear, urged the voting down of said appropriation of $1250.

TRAINS COLLIDE.

Two Men Killed and Four Injured in the Wreck.

Two L. & N. freight trains collided near Morton's Gap about 7:30 Thursday night, killing two, badly injuring two and slightly injuring two.

The killed were E. M. Corbett, brakeman, and Cleveland Harrison, a tramp.

Sam Ingram, one of the conductors, sustained a broken leg and a bone in brakeman Westwood's leg was fractured.

The engineers, Messrs. McGrath and Porter, jumped and sustained injuries which while painful were not very serious. Both trains were derailed and the engines and nearly all the cars badly damaged.

Corbett was 22 years old and had been in the employ of the company for several years. His home was in Nashville.

The accident is said to have been due to a conflict of train orders. The wreck was cleared during the night and the through train from St. Louis passed here 2 hours late next morning.

Crystal Palace, or Palace of Mirrors

This is the most mystifying device ever produced, and was erected at a cost of $25,000. By an arrangement of myriads of mirrors seven feet high and five wide one enters the "Palace of Glass," and loses one's self; then perchance finds one's self face to face with one's self; sees one's self standing on one's self or beside one's self, under one's self or on top of one's self; in short there is no end to the predicaments in which one finds one's self. "Here's where you lose yourself."

This Palace is one of the features at the Lexington Horse Show, Fair and Carnival, Aug. 12-17. See small bills.
